EDS #'s 2480, 2481, 3260, 4420

Per Lloyd Graham's discussion on May 13, 2010 with Timothy Sheil, Assistant Corporation Counsel with the City of Chicago's Law Department, please see the below response pertaining to the Section V.B. for EDS numbers 2480, 2481, 3260 and 4420:

In 2009 the UK Office of Fair Trading (OFT) investigated and made its decision in respect of its investigation into historically widespread tendering practices within the construction industry in England and Wales. The OFT decided that during the period 2000 and 2006 construction industry companies breached the UK Competition Act 1998. On 22 September 2009, the OFT levied fines against 103 companies, including Mansell Construction Services Limited, a subsidiary of Balfour Beatty plc. Mansell and two other Balfour Beatty subsidiaries had admitted involvement in cover pricing and entered into leniency agreements with the OFT. As a result of the Group's extensive cooperation with and full disclosure to the OFT, the OFT did not levy fines or any sanctions against the other two subsidiaries, and significantly reduced any fine which Mansell could prospectively had paid.

Subsequent to making its decision, and in light of the fact that the cover pricing practices were so widespread and commonplace throughout the UK construction industry, the OFT issued a press release recommending that government procurement authorities should not automatically deselect firms named in the OFT decision merely because they were so named.

From the Group's involvement in the OFT investigation we can confirm to you that the investigation's findings have no implications for any role that PB Americas, Inc., a subsidiary of Parsons Brinckerhoff Inc., may fulfill in this project. Please be reminded that Parsons Brinckerhoff Inc, and its subsidiaries were acquired by Balfour Beatty plc on October 27th, 2009 after this matter with the OFT was concluded. We also draw your attention to the fact that conduct in respect of which fines have been imposed occurred prior to 19 December 2003, and any such cover pricing practices have been eliminated from the Group.

Explain:

In 2009 the UK Office of Fair Trading (OFT) investigated and made its decision in respect of its investigation into historically widespread tendering practices within the construction industry in England and Wales. On 22 September 2009, the OFT levied fines against 103 companies, including Mansell Construction Services Limited, a subsidiary of Balfour Beatty plc. The OFT decided that during the period 2000 and 2006 construction industry companies breached the UK Competition Act 1998. From the Group's involvement in the OFT investigation we can confirm to you that the investigation's findings have no implications for any role that PB Americas, Inc. may fulfill in this project. We also draw your attention to the fact that conduct in respect of which fines have been imposed occurred prior to 19 December 2003, and any such cover pricing practices have been eliminated from the Group.

Explain:

In 2009, the UK Office of Fair Trading ("OFT") investigated and recently made its decision in respect of its investigation into historically widespread tendering practices within the construction industry in England and Wales. On 22 September 2009, the OFT levied fines against 103 companies, including Mansell Construction Services Limited, a subsidiary of Balfour Beatty plc. The OFT decided that during the period from 2000 to 2006, construction industry companies breached the UK Competition Act 1998. From the Group's involvement in the OFT investigation, we can confirm to you that the investigations findings have no implications for any role that PB Americas Inc may fulfil in this project. We also draw your attention to the fact that conduct in respect of which the fe fines have been imposed occurred prior to 19 December 2003, and any such cover pricing practices have been eliminated from the Group.
